GETTING DOWN TO HISTORY.

EDITOR BULLETIN: -S. E. Bishop, in another epistle to the BULLETIN of Oct, 8, says, "I merely think the best way is to give the larger voice in running the ship to those who under-stand navigation." If the rev. gen-tleman is sincere in the above he will at once try and turn the navigation of the ship ever to the members of some other church. For the navigators of the political club-house on Fort street have proved themselves to be nothing more ner less than a lot of inexperienced appren-tice boys in the art of navigating a ship. It would play the dence with the best Ministry in creation and swamp the best ship afloat, to have such a motley crew of would-be navigators clinging to the shrouds of the unfortunate ship of state at the present time. They may know how to strike a sharp bargain in selling a plough, or a handcar, or a barrel of salmon, and may be adepts at figuring high interest on plantation accounts and worrying young children at Sunday schools; but as to being navigators of a ship, gracious, what an idea. Again he says, "The haoles brought their capital with them in the valuable and portable form of brains, thrift and business integrity which they employed to develop the latent wealth of the country. Will 'Facts' deny that the natives have also been enriched by their means? Everywhere the framed house has supplanted the grass hut and store clothes the malo and kihei." I deny every word of the above in toto. The natives were enriched through whale-ships which visited the Islands in large numbers' from the early forties to the early seventies, and through them only did the natives build their "framed houses" and discard the "grass hut" and wear "store-clothes" instead of the "malo and kihei." And also through the whalers only did every mother's son of the haoles make what weatih they were possessed of, up to the early seventies or later. Asevery one knows, sugar was nowhere until His Majesty King Kalakawa, whom S. E. Bishop and his ken are trying hard to "down," went abroad and secured the treaty for them, which has been the cause of over-running the country with Chinese, and has brought ruin to the natives and others. So much for the rev. gentleman's "facts" as he calls them. It would look much better for him to give the public the true facts on the subject, and not strain and try so hard to cover them up. NEMO.

DOWN WITH THAT SQUEAK.

EDITOR BULLETIN: -- May I suggest through your columns, to my friend Mr. Kinney that in his praiseworthy efforts to solve the Chinese problem by repressive measures it might be well to begin with some practicable, if not easy, suppression? Near to my residence is a Chinese twostringed fiddle which in the hands of various performers gives forth strident and uncanny noises which can never be agreeable to the ear of a white man. Pray suppress that fiddle! Then again the Chinese washerman brings home the clothes in a wheelbarrow, that might be the same fiddle so far as sound indicates, and he even does this on Sundays. Either suppress that wheelbarrow, or pass a law compelling every Chinese to oil the wheel. Surely people that delight in such music have no rights that need be FAN QWAL respected by MR. C. ALEE, Chinese Commercial Agent, and Mr. Goo Kim, the Assist-ant Agent, were watching the proceedings in the Ho Fon conspiracy case this morning in the Supreme Court.

LAST night Chiarini's circus troupe performed to a well-filled tent, but not quite so many as on Saturday evening. The performance was, with one exception, the same as Saturday night's. The introduction of two Japanese jugglers in place of the burlesque rider was well received and applauded. Mr. Chiarini has promised the elephants and other new attractions for this evening.

THE store of the Hawaiian News Company was entered during the night by some person at present un-known. A hole had been bored through the sash of the rear window which enabled the burglar to push the catch on one side. Some small change, a little over three dollars, was missing from the cash drawer. The barber shop in rear of the store was also entered, probably by the same person. Nothing was taken from

Mr. Harmston, Sr., has called at this office to defend his son George's claim to be the champion circus rider of the world. He says he holds five gold medals, has successfully competed during the past nine years with the best European riders, and will be happy to enter the lists with when he reaches that country. These grounds of Mr. Harmston's claim to championship are given with pleasure, and it is cordially hoped that he may be able long to maintain his honors.

THE PUTNAM COMPANY.

After a long interval of silence on our Thespian boards, the Honolulu public are promised an opportunity of hearing a first-rate comedy company. The box plan for season tickets for Miss Katie Putnam and company is now open at Mr. Levey's office, and that for the opening night (Saturday) will be open on Thursday. As a large proportion of the season tickets are already sold, the opportunity of securing their advantages should not be wasted. Miss Putnam and company have an established reputation that leaves no doubt of the high class of their performances. It is for this community to show itself worthy of the occasional visits of number one theatrical artists.

A COUNTRY VERDICT. EDITOR BULLETIN :- In the Advertiser of Oct. 4 appears an article signed "Teaser." The latter part of his demagogic tirade reads thusly: "It would not be any wild assertion to make that were there no white mechanics on the islands except those engaged in heavy undertakings such as plantation machinery and ship work, the kingdom would get along just as well and the want would be scarcely felt." Such sentiments as the above are quite enough to show the true inwardness and character of the man "Teaser," whoever he is; and will also show that the largest share in his composition and general make-up is composed of selfishness and greed, and meanness enough to rob from a sick baby its last mouthful of sustenance. Not only this but some-MECHANIC. thing more.

OCTOBER TERM.

Triel of Ho Fon for Consp'racy ... Before His Hover the Chief

TUESDAY, Oct. 15th. The King vs. Ho Fon. Conspiracy. The Attorney-General and I eputy Attorney-General and F. M. Hatch for the Crown ; Paul Neumann for the defendant. The following jurors were called: Hamilton Johnson, C. were called: Hamilton Johnson, C. Crozier, P. Opfergelt, C. A. Peacock, Thos. Lindsay, M. N. Sanders, H. M. Wuitney, Jr., C. Bolte, F. J. Lowrey, C. Hammer, A. M. Mellis, T. M. Starkey. The jury was sworn to answer all questions put to them.

T. M. Starkey said he sat on the jury in the Loomens trial, from the evidence he had heard there he was biased, and preferred not to sit on this jury. I have no prejudice against Ho Fon.

A. M. Mellis said he did not know Ho Fon. He sat in the Loomens trial and did not think he ought to sit on this jury. The testimony heard before would sway his judgment. Have no opinion as to whether Ho Fon was guilty or not. Could give the defendant an impartial trial, and render a verdict justified by the evidence and instructions.

Mr. Neumann thought Mr. Mellis ought to be excused, as he conscientiously says he ought not to sit on the jury.

The Attorney-General said the Crown did not wish biased jurors. Mr. Mellis further said that the testimony heard in the Loomens case would not prejudice him in this case. The Court said he could not excuse the juror.

Mr. Hammer could give the defendant a fair and unbiased trial. He had no race feeling.

Mr. Lowrey knew Ho Fon. Had heard ordinary accounts. Had no prejudice for or against the defendant. Could give a verdict according to the testimony. Mr. Bolte had known Ho Fon personally for a long time. He could try him according to the evidence but could not give him the benefit of a doubt as much as someone he

H. M. Whitney, Jr., knew Ho Fon. Sat on the last trial, Know something of his connection with the late rebellion. Have a fixed opinion in the matter. The Court excused Mr. Whitney and Aug. Ehlers was called. M. N. Sanders knew Ho Fon by sight, sat in the Loomens trial, and had formed an opinion that would require evidence to remove. Could

Mr. Neumann moved that all the jurors who sat in the Loomens case ought to be excused from this case. the ablest trick riders of America There had been a precedent, and the same ruling ought to be obtained if this man was to have a fair trial.

The Court refused the motion, to which Mr. Neumann noted exceptions. Mr. Lindsay said he had no race prejudice. C. A. Peacock sat in the Loomens case, and thought from the evidence heard that the charge against Ho Fon had been proved. He was excused and W. O. Atwater called. P. Opfergelt could not give the defendant a fair trial. He was excused, and E. M. Marshall called. C. Crozier could give the defendant a fair trial without prejudice.

H. Johnson had formed an opinion and was excused, Max Eckart being called.

J. E. Brown had no political or other bias against the defendant. Could render a just and impartial verdict on the evidence and instruc-

A. Ehlers from the evidence heard had not formed an opinion. Could decide on the evidence.

W. O. Atwater had had conversation with others, which rather influenced him. Ho Fon being present at the meetings, he thought he was guilty. From the evidence to be presented he could give a verdict accordingly.

E. M. Marshall had formed no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant from the evidence heard. Max Eckart was questioned with the same result.

Mr. Neumann challenged T. M. Starkey, and C. T. Gulick was called

Mr. Gulick said he had read the evidence in the Loomens trial. Had formed an opinion, and felt biased. Was not in the conspiracy himself. He was excused and J. Emmeluth called.

Mr. Emmeluth said he knew Ho Fon. Read some of the evidence in the Loomens trial. Have formed no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant. Have only political prejudice against the Chinese. Could give the defendant a fair trial on the evidence.

Thos. Lindsay was excused by the defense and E. D. Tenney called.

Mr. Tenney knew the defendant by sight. Have read and heard statements to connect him with the affair. Have formed a presumptive opinion. Could set aside any opinion I have formed, and give the defendant a fair trial on the evidence and law presented. Mr. Neumann challenged J.

Emmeluth and L. C. Ables was

Mr. Ables sat in the Loomens case. Have seen Ho Fon in the streets. Have not expressed any opinion as to his innocence or guilt, Think it unfair to the defendant that any juryman who sat in the Loomens trial should sit on this jury. Could give the defendant a fair trial on the evidence.

The jury being satisfactory to both sides, was sworn in as follows: A. M. Mellis, C. Hammer, F. J. Lowrey, J. E. Brown, A. Ehlers, L. C. Ables, Max. Eckart, C. Crozier, W. O. Atwater, E. D. Tenney, M. N. Sanders, E. M. Marshall.

Deputy Attorney-General Peterson opened the case for the Crown. He stated the defendant was present at the first meeting July 10th at Princess Liliuokalani's residence, also on the 11th and on the 29th just before the body marched to the palace. They would show that he was often seen in consultation with R. W. Wilcox, and was agent for a number of Chinese who were backing up the affair. They would show by his conversation that he knew all about the plans of Wilcox. On the 29th he was expected to furnish the sinews of war in the shape of guas, but failed, that the next day he was active in getting provisions to the palace yard. The defendant was in a prominent position when a Chinaman took the oath, but he did not take the oath himself.

The first witness called was Robert N. Boyd, who gave similar evidence to that in the Loomens trial. The main points brought out were that Ho Fon attended the meetings at the Princess Liliuokalani's residence, that he sat there through the meetings and saw another Chinaman take the oath of the society, that he looked at the guns in the room off the dining-room, that the premises were guarded, that he saw Ho Fen and four other Chinese conversing with Wilcox, who wore the uniform of a left lieutenant of the Italian artillery, that the purpose of the organization which was talked about at the meetings was to get a new constitution and overthrow the min-

New Free Tontine Policy

Equitable Life Assurance Society

A SIMPLE PROMISE TO PAY.

[From the New York Times, June 22, 1889.]

The Equitable Life Assurance Society has adopted a new form of policy which, like a bank draft, is a simple promise to pay without condi-

From the CHICAGO INVESTIGATOR.

Always on the alert, and ever anxious to give the public the most advantageous contract in life insurance, the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York has, in the past, made many advances on old methods and has been the means to liberalize life assurance in a greater degree perhaps, than any other organization. It is not at all surprising, therefore, that this great company now comes before the people with a new contract, the like of which has not before been known in life insurance.

[From the Kentucky Register, Richmond, Ky., June 28, 1889.]

The Equitable Life Assurance Society has, in the past, done more to create and maintain confidence in life assurance than any other company. Consequently its business is larger than that of any of its competitors. Furthermore, it has now taken a step which practically sweeps every objection of the character referred to out of the way. The result, undoubtedly, will be that thousands of men who have heretofore lacked confidence in life assurance, will examine the new policy offered by the Equitable, and assure their lives forthwith.

From the Boston Post.

This company has done more than any other to simplify the assurance contract, and to maintain public confidence in life assurance.

From the Pacific Underwriten, San Francisco, July 1, 1889.

The Equitable has already established a world-wide reputation for liberal dealings with its policy-holders and for its prompt settlement of all legitimate claims against it, and this new policy cannot fail to enhance its reputation for enterprise and progressiveness in dealing with the subject of life assurance.
